DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. These claims are directed to "use" which is non-statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 3-9, 11-15, 17-18 and 27-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 07-278374.
4. This patent teaches polypropylene compositions having incorporated there in nucleating agents. These nucleating agents are described by a general formula wherein the R groups are disclosed as a cycloalkyl. As such it can be cyclohexyl as claimed. The difference between this teaching and the claims is that one would need to select the cyclohexyl group from the description of the R group being a cycloalkyl. One would be motivated to select the cyclohexyl as claimed given the small number species within the genus. As such the composition is rendered prima facie obvious.

5. Claims 2, 10, 16, 19-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP07-278374 as applied to claims 1, 3-9, 11-15, 17-18 and 27-31 above, and further in view of Sadamitsu et al. US 2006/0091581.

6. These claims further require the incorporation of component (2) and specific molding steps. Sadamitsu shows the incorporation of compounds falling within the scope of (2) at [0039]. Further, molding the composition in the process as claimed is disclosed at [0065]+. It would be obvious to add the additional agent as disclosed at [0039] to the composition of the JP07-278374 given the art recognized conventionality and the advantages derived therefrom.
